

Recovered close to the Open Gauntlet waystation, Wind Moon

Priest Tobias

As you will no doubt now be aware we succeeded in retrieving the blood wind herald from the shrine within the Aldonar Tombs, Our distraction although not as successful as we would have liked proves sufficient.

The herald is strongwilled and prone to fits of rage.

The embodiments allows for some measure of control.

It is best to pander to its whils where possible carrot and stick.

The herald should lead you to the shrine of the blood oracle.

We continue to locate the others and will meet you if we are able.

The past is ours
